

THE RACE CARD
PROJECT

RESPONSES FROM THE
SAINT LOUIS UNIVERSITY COMMUNITY
6 WORDS TO DESCRIBE
RACE, CULTURE, & IDENTITY

Our collective race is only human.

ancestry, privilege, access, lineage,
heritage, opportunities

Tense from injustice and always changing

No, I do not play basketball

Trying to have positive antiracist white

Mind your business and Spread Love <3

"Model Minority" does not help us

We can't solve racism without reparations

Celebrate our differences, see our humanity

All women bear pain and suffering

color does not equal moral values

Culture and race should be respected

Appreciate bicultural and multicultural identifying peoples

No, where are you REALLY from?

Too politicized, too woke, too upside-down.

Color doesn't allow you to stereotype

I am both Indian and American

I'm more than your own subconscious.

My culture is not a trend

I'm almost as tan as you! (I'm black)

No correct race box to check off as a Latina.

triple checked by airport security

A slow death from societal individualism.

Lesbian is not a dirty word

White Women as Allies not Antagonizers

My identity is not your capital

Social construct based on my phenotype

Strength through diversity, weakness
through ignorance

Better to hide; love my culture

I am Muslim and I'm proud.

I'm not black enough for you.

My appearance should not reflect treatment.

Multiracial upbringing + sanitized history
education = ignorance

Just beginning to unpack my privilege.

Grounded in history, living in today

Scientist hoping to make things better

I love both parts of me

Feeling privileged, believing need for change

Privileged, therefore responsible to effect
change

Individual to everyone, identity constantly
changing.

So Proud and Yet so Tired.

Muslim women are not oppressed.

Race should not be divisive!

Displaced? You're Indian does it matter

Hoping we can keep making progress

Race shouldn't be the first thing

An abstract graphic at the top of the page consists of several overlapping, wavy bands of color. From left to right, the colors transition from yellow and orange to red, then to green, and finally to cyan. The bands are layered, creating a sense of depth and movement.

Judaism is more than a religion

Ask me about my dual citizenship!

An abstract graphic at the top of the page consists of several overlapping, wavy bands of color. From left to right, the colors transition from yellow and orange to red, then to green, and finally to cyan and blue. The bands are layered, creating a sense of depth and movement.

Being Strong Is A Trauma Response

Amplify others' voices, listen and learn.

Unapologetically aware that differences unite us.

Please try harder fellow white people

Always talking, always terrified, equal measure

I am beautiful. Why the hate?

Lived experiences ARE valid; respect them!

We rise by lifting each other

Intersection of my multiple salient identities

Fight for equity and not equality

I am more than my stereotypes

Content of character > color of skin!